

Louis the Spotty Green Frog- A Mystery Story

Louis was perched in a damp spot in the garden. He was having a lovely time, he thought, "I wish I had some scrumdiddlyuptious bugs mmm." Suddenly he heard a howling sound, he knew it was Silver, a friendly wolf, so he scrambled out of the damp spot and accelerated towards the small hole in the wall. Silver was very tired of howling, so he said, "What took you so long?" Louis replied, "I got stuck in some gooey mud. Now what do you want?" "Nothing," Silver said, "My meat has been stolen by humans." "What!" exclaimed Louis. "I said my meat has been stolen." "How do you know it was humans?" asked Louis. "I'm pretty sure because humans steal everything." "Well, we'd better start looking then,” said Louis. “ Okay, let’s go,” Silver replied.

They looked throughout all the forest, suddenly a huge brown bear came bashing out of the undergrowth. Silver shouted, “leave it to me!,” and then lept and shoved the bear of the Grand Canyon. Louis said, “well that’s the bear done with”, “lets go and see down at the desert. Then they saw Mr Jeremy with the meat. Silver growled viciously at Mr Jeremy, but suddenly he stopped growling, because he saw a rifle on his back. Suddenly Mr Jeremy whipped around and shot at silver, he just mist then Mr Jeremy dropped his gun in some quick sand , “NOOOOOO!,” suddenly Silver accelerated at Mr Jeremy. As soon as they got the meat walked back to the forest. And he was never seen again.
