

Louis the Frog – A Mystery Story

One day Louis the frog receives a note from someone. Louis was determined to find who had written the note. So he called his friend Detective Mills, she came as quick as she could. "What is the matter?" said Mills.

"This note says I should give my magic globe to an anonymous person, meet me at Harbour Lane 12pm." Said Louis.

"Aha, mm, then meet me at Harbour Lane at 11pm, bring both your globes, I think I have an idea who it is." Said Detective Mills.

Mills thinks she knows the hand writing. Detective Mill's went back to her office, to confirm her suspicions. Louis meanwhile is worrying about his time travelling globe which can take you forward in time and backwards and if you look into it, it shows you what's happening now.

Louis globe had been passed down from his great, great, great, great, great, great grandfather Sir Galle. The globe has a silver stand with frogs carved into it, the ball that sit's on top is see-through. Louis lived in a house (that was actually part of a lake.)

Mills would have a tough job as she suspected the crook was Seagull named Fishy Breath and his assistant called Oyster crusher. The bad guys wanted the globe because they wanted to cause trouble in the past and future.

The meeting finally came at 11pm Louis was very scared but excited to see who was behind the anonymous note. Louis noticed Mills coming toward him. Mills had a briefcase. She said "I think I know who it is Fishy Breath."

"What?" said Louis. "Who's Fishy Breath"?

"You will find out. Give me you globe." Said Mills. So Louis gave the globe to Mills and she put it in clay, in a few minutes it had dried, then Mills took out a paint kit and paint it to look like the real thing.

BONG! BONG! BONG! BONG! BONG! BONG! BONG! BONG! BONG!
BOMG!

"It's midnight" said Mills "go on Louis." So Louis went and meet the hench men of Fishy Breath. As soon as Louis had given the fake globe. Mills fooled them to a lair in the cliff, ther she saw Fishy Breath sitting on a rock, he jumped up and shouted with her warrant card showing. "you are under arrest."

A day after the indedent Fishy Breath, Oyster Crusher and Crab Claws were in jail. Mill's said " I wonder how they new about the globe."

"I think I know why they new about the globe because Sir <sup>Galle</sup>~~Gale~~ was friends with Sir Humphrey an ancestor of Fishy Breath the Seagul. Sir Humphrey had a grandson called Grey Spirit and he did not get a long with Sir <sup>Galle</sup>~~Gale~~ grandson called Sir. Jenson and they were enemies for the rest of their lives. The frogs tried to become friends with the seagulls. The seagulls however wanted to enemies.