

Louis the Frog plays a joke

Once upon a time lived a frog called Louis who lived in a pond and which was in space. It was too far away to know what happens there but Astronauts went there to tell a story. In animal land it was March the 31st 2012.

It was nearly Louis favourite day of the year April Fool's day so Louis had been planning what jokes to play. Louis had already planned what joke to play so in the morning at 1:00 he woke up, he went to his Mum and Dad's room, opened the door, crept in and quietly took his Mum and Dad's alarm clock and quietly changed the alarm clock time to make his Mum and Dad get up early. He crept to the door and opened it and ran to his room and quickly got dressed and ran into his Mum and Dad's room and the alarm clock went off. "It's breakfast time" shouted Louis as the alarm clock had started beeping. So his Mum and Dad got dressed. Louis sneaked to his room, got back into his pyjamas and went to bed. As his Mum opened the curtains "it was a trick" she said "it's still dark" "mmm" she sighed "I will go and tell him off". She went up stairs and heard the sound of snoring. "What's that?" she thought so she went to Louis' room and found him sleeping in his bed. Then suddenly he jumped up "boo!" he shouted. "oh Louis" said his Mum. "It is breakfast time Louis" He had cheerios. He had already played one joke but his Dad and Mum had their revenge by giving him breakfast in the middle of the night.

By Jack presents

