

Louis the frog plays a joke

One day a frog called Louis sat on his lily pad in the river I'm bored he sighed to him self. Louis the frog said I am going to play a joke on the other animals I know I play it on the kitten, puppy, mouse and beetle. He liked his idea so he found a pheasant feather.

And crept up on the puppy first and tickled him on the tail and sprung in to the hedge the puppy turned round but Louis was knot there.

Next he tickled the kitten under the ear and again he sprung in to the hedge he jumped out and said you've got fleas. The kitten was upset so she went home.

Meanwhile at Louis's lily pad his mummy was wondering where he had gone.

The mouse was scratching about an old oak tree he did the same as he did to the kitten he got the feather and tickled him under the tail. Then he hid in the bushes. The mouse jumped and ran for its life. Then Louis came out and started laughing.

Next Louis found a beetle I will flick it on its back he whispered to him self. So he flicked it on the back and he jumped in to the hedge.

When he got home his mummy was knot happy about him the mummies of animal's have been ringing up and saying you have been flicking and tickling I AM NOT HAPPY! she screamed.

In the morning nobody came to play with him and after 2-3 hours he gave up waiting. So he went to bed.

Next morning Louis the frog sent out invitations for the animals to come to the pond and play with him. All the animals came the puppy, dog, kitten, cat, mouse and its mummy, beetle and its mummy.

They all played on the lily pads and they splashed! in the water.

And they where all friends for ever. And the puppy turned in to a dog and the kitten turned in to a cat.
