

Louis the frog plays a joke

One upon a time there was a little Cranky frog called Louis.
Louis lived with his mum and his dad.
Frogs love rain right, So Louis and his parents lived on a little island called Rainspill.

On Rainspill it always rained.
One day Louis got extremely bored, So he decided to tell a joke. By the way, in the middle of the "joke" Louis would get up, and go to bed in the next morning (in Rainspill?)
"Ah Ha!" "crawled Louis "I have got a great joke!" So he went to his mum and said "Hey mum, can I give you a joke?" "yes sure honey" said Mum "What do you call an under ground rain with professors in?" he asked "Errorr..... I don't no honey" "A tube of Smarties!"
said Mum

"Ha ha ha ha" Laughed mum "That was funny dear" "Now do you want some bait flies" "Oh yes please mum" said Louis. So they all enjoyed there bait flies.

He was so happy with his joke he decided to actually play a Joke.

The next day, before school he put frog weed on his head and changed his school books to Louisa.

At school all his best friends kept saying "where's Louis, have you seen him we need him for the football practise".
When Louis (Louisa) arrived at school he went over to the girls and all the girls said "well hold on we have here!" "I....." Louis said "can I join your girl chat" "Errrrrrrrrrr" rr we don't know your just a girl with almost frog weedy hair" I'm sorry I'm not said Louisa and giggled to himself.

At the end of school, at assembly Louisa went up and told everyone that she was very sorry but she was actually Louis not Louisa.
"Ha ha ha got you all" he laughed.
Everyone laughed back and said
"You silly Louis frog!!"

