The Frog

The Big Adventure – Where has Beany gone?

One day there was a frog called Louis. He was 6 years old and he had green skin that was slimy and big green feet.

Tich the heron was Louis best friend. He was tall and handsome.

On a warm day Louis and Tich sat at the side of the river watching Louis' new cousin, Beany, the tadpole. Beany was very young but a fast swimmer and said, "I am bored, will you play hide and seek with me?" Tich said, "Yes if you are careful," and Louis said "Yes, off you go, I will count to 10."

Tich went to hide behind a tree and Beany went further down the river to hide. "Coming ready or not," shouted Louis and off he went to look for them. He walked down the river and found Tich, "That was easy Tich, you didn't hide very well."

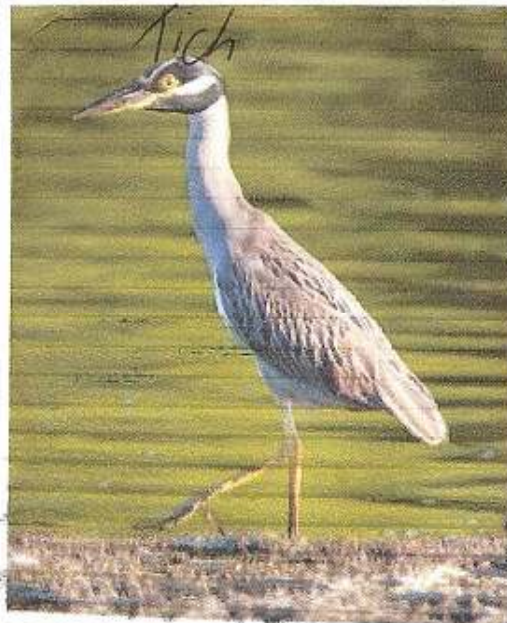

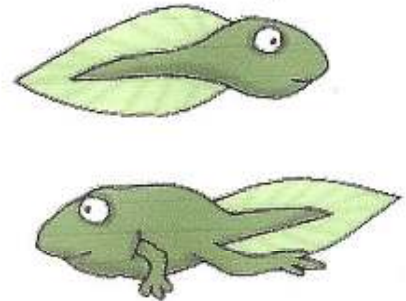

They searched everywhere but could not find Beany who had hidden under a rock. It was getting late so Louis and Tich started to go back home. Suddenly, they saw something green in the river that they thought was a frog. "How are you? They both said. "Fine, it's me Beany, I have turned into a frog" he replied. "Wow, we found you and you are a frog now," they said.

They all went home and had a big celebration the next day and lived happily ever after.
