

Louis

Louis is a frog with loads of friends but one stormy night Louis's friends came to visit but when they got there Louis was not there.

They went back home to play games and his friend noticed a hole so they went down the hole.

One of Louis's friends said "I think this is mole's house" he said "well it's worth looking anyway" he said but mole was not there either so they went to owl's house but he was not there either "wasn't he supposed to be doing a surprise test?" "yes" so they went back home.

The next morning they went to his house and HE PASSED! "Horray"