

Louis the frog!

One day there was a little green frog named Louis. Louis was very popular and he loved to go on fun adventures! So one night Louis went out to all the other little frogs houses and told them he was going on an adventure!

On that night they set off through the holly bushes into the park. Then they saw a broken haunted graveyard. Louis started to walk over to the graveyard when one of his friends said that it was too scary, but Louis persuaded them to come. His friends were so scared they nearly wet their pants but they kept on going.

Eventually when everybody reached the graveyard Louis kept saying he heard people speaking and saw people flying! But nobody was talking. It was as silent as summer when the world is at peace. Louis and all his friends walked into the churchyard and then one of Louis's friends heard a voice too, then suddenly everybody <sup>heard</sup> it! So they all wanted to figure out what was going on.

Louis walked on all the graves and kept hearing people say help, get out now, things like that. Louis's best friend Fred saw a little cottage in the graveyard. They knocked on the door. Nobody answered! One of Louis's friends said that he saw his grandad but he was dead. Then everybody who had died all rised from the dusty graveyard and started flying!

Suddenly all the people who had died turned into different type of animals. Everybody stared in amazement about what had happened, they all started cheering with excitement because they all get to see someone they have lost in the past. So Louis and his friends went home. But once in a while they would go and visit all the animals!

The End.
