

Louis the frog plays a joke

Once upon a time there lived a frog called Louis, who invited his best friend Max to his pond. They played some jokes on each other. Look out there's a spider behind you said Louis, Max turned around but there wasn't anything there. Max turned to Louis and said haha very funny, they both laughed. When they stopped laughing they went for a swim in the pond.

When they finished swimming they hopped out of the pond and Max decided to play a joke on Louis. Max told Louis there's a fly behind you, Louis turned around and he was excited because he was very hungry. When he turned around there was nothing there, he looked at Max and they both laughed. It was time for Max to go back to his pond, he said bye bye and went home.
