Louis the Frog plays a Joke

Once upon a time there lived a frog named Louis. Louis lived in a pond in the forest. Lots of creatures lived in the pond. There were fish of all colours, frogs of all shapes and sizes and many bugs and insects.

The fish in the pond were always busy looking after their schools and trying not to get caught by the people who came to the pond with fishing rods and nets. The bugs and insects could never keep still and were always busy flying around the pond and forest.

The happiest of all the creatures were the frogs.

One day a dragonfly named Joe was flying by when he saw Louis sitting on a lily pad. Joe could see how happy Louis was, Joe asked Louis "why are all the frogs so happy?" "That's easy" said Louis "because we eat whatever bugs we want." and with a quick whip of his tongue and a big grin he ate Joe in one gulp.
