Louis the frog and the Mystery of the Missing Friend

There is a green spotty frog called Louis. He lives in a pond by the park. It was mid December and the pond Louis lived in was frozen over with frost and ice, the grass was snow white, there was a slight blaze of the sun. He has three friends, they're Emily, Ben and Philip and a baddy, the evil squirrel.

One day Louis and his friends went to play on the icy pond. A while later, they had to get to school and so Louis did. Two of his friends followed but Philip didn't. Louis thought he had gone home. He didn't. He went to play on the pond but when Philip was playing he fell through the ice.

Louis, Emily and Ben got home from school. They didn't have a clue where Philip was. While Louis was thinking that Philip was shouting "Help! Help!"

Louis said to Emily "Where's Philip?"

"I don't know" she cried "Where is Philip?"

But they hopped back to the pond.

"Who put you there?"

"The evil squirrel did."

"Why?" said Louis.

"I don't know." said the shivering Philip.

"At least you're safe now, though you were lost."

They all went back to their own ponds and lived happily ever after.
