Louis the frog plays a joke

Once upon a time there lived a frog called Louis. He was green and slimy. One day he played a joke on his friends. So he disguised to pretend to be poorly. So he did not have to go to school. He put red dots on his face. "Ha. Ha ha! They will never get this joke solved" said Louis.

When his Mum came in to wake him up the next day she screamed "You are not going to school to day!" So he had his breakfast. "Are you all right?" said his Dad. "No" giggled Louis

"Are you?"

"Yes" said Louis

"Well now you have to go to school" said his Dad.

"I am very sorry" cried Louis.

So he went to school.

"Where were you?" said Louis' teacher.

"I was late" said Louis. Everyone laughed.
