Louis the frog plays a trick

Once upon a time there lived a frog called Louis. Louis hopped to his friends Rex's house and asked if he wanted to go to the park. He said "Yes." Louis said "Come on then." When they were at the park they went in the pond.

At the bottom of the pond was a cave; in the cave was a two headed monster. The monster sneezed and Louis heard the sneeze. Louis said "What was that?" His friend said "What was what?" Louis said "That noise, that noise from the cave." "I didn't hear anything," said Louis' friend. Louis said "Let's go in." Louis friend said "I don't want to go in there." "Come on scaredy-cat" said Louis. "OK" said Louis friend "But I'm not going that far."

When they were in they saw the monster. But it wasn't a monster it was a person playing a trick. They ran. Finally they were at the park. The monster broke out of the cave. Louis got some eggs and threw them at the monster and the monster ran away.
