

One day there lived a boy could Louis. He lived in a pond, right at the bottom of the pond, in the middle of nowhere. Louis was jolly good frog. He was happy funny and cheeky.

Louis thought I'm going to play a trick on my friend "hmm I know I'm going to get my other friend to put him in the tree and give him a radio tape that sounds like an ice-cream van noise."

All set?

Yes!

Hello is Tom home?

Yes, Tom, Louis has come to see you.

Ok, coming.

Let's go to the pond. Let's go Tom.

Louis passed the tree. Tom passed the tree.

Trapped you! Ha, ha!

Untie me please, do me.

Let's go to my room. Let's play. Phew I'm tired. Let's go downstairs and get some milk.

They lived happily ever after.
