

Louis the frog plays a joke

One morning Louis was asleep until his friends woke him up and said "Louis! Louis its Christmas!" so Louis jumped out of bed and ran downstairs to open his presents. So he went to open his present. He opened the first present. So he opened it and five slippery frogs jumped out. Then Louis went to bed with his friends. Then the slippy five frogs jumped into bed with Louis.

The next morning Louis jumped out of bed five minutes early. He got dressed and got a mouse trap to get his friends back. Then he got his stuff and ran to school. Then his friends got out of bed and stood on the mouse trap and they were trying to find Louis but they could not find him. Louis put rotten eggs, so when Louis friends came in the rotten eggs splatted on them.

Then it was time to go home so Louis and his friends went home and they lived happily ever after.

By Libby-Jo Shipham

